DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

2. Claims 42-49 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention.

It is not understood what the type of error as recited in the specification and in claims 42-49 really is.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 42-49 are, insofar as understood, rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Lin, 5,485,428.

Lin, 5,485,428, disclose in Fig. 4 a memory device comprising:
page latch/counter 422 for latching and storing data on data bus 220 (see lines 7-19, column 4); selectively transmitting the latched data to each memory device during the first mode of memory write operation (see lines 20-48, column 4);

data buffer 48 for reading out the data without programming the latched data into the memory device during the second mode of memory read operation (see lines 49-67, column 5).

What is not shown in Fig. 4 of Lin, 5,485,428, is the test mode to test whether or not an error occurs as recited in claims 43-49.

Kasai et al., 6,331,948, discloses in Fig. 1 the teaching of using syndrome calculating circuit 8 for detecting whether or not there is any error in information bit and correction circuit 9 for correcting the information bit error at the output of readout circuit 7 during the test mode operation (see lines 66-67, column 5; lines 1-7, column 6; lines 54-57, column 9).

It would have been obvious under 35 USC 103(a) to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention was made to utilize the syndrome calculating circuit 8 and the correction circuit 9 in Fig. 1 of Kasai et al., 6,331,948, for detecting whether or not there is any error in information bit and for correcting the information bit error at the output of data buffer circuit 48 during the test mode operation (see lines 66-67, column 5; lines 1-7, column 6; lines 54-57, column 9).

Conclusion

5. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
